

Allied Health Network Advisory Group

Expression of interest information

Primary Health Tasmania is pleased to advise that applications for our Allied Health Network Advisory Group (AHNAG) are now open, with thirteen members coming to the end of their two-year term. The AHNAG comprises fifteen allied health professionals who provide guidance on Primary Health Tasmania's education, engagement and collaboration with Tasmania's allied health professionals. The group identifies gaps and barriers to successful multidisciplinary healthcare and advises Primary Health Tasmania on current sector updates and profession-specific priority areas.

Key information

- All EOI submissions are due by 5pm on Wednesday 21 October 2026. Successful applicants will be informed by Wednesday 18 November 2026.
- Twelve memberships in the group are up for election.
- Members are required to attend meetings held on Wednesdays from 1.30pm to 3pm on a quarterly basis, beginning Wednesday 9 December 2026. Members are remunerated for their time for all meetings.
- Elected members are appointed for a term of two years.
- CoPilot AI recording and notetaking is completed during quarterly meetings to assist with the minute-taking process.

Selection criteria

1. All elected members must have a minimum of 18 months experience working in (and must actively be working in) a patient-facing role in allied health primary care in Tasmania.
2. Primary Health Tasmania aims to capture the diverse perspectives and knowledge of allied health professionals working across Tasmania. The recruitment process will aim to elect a balance of members from across the sector.
 - Target of 40% of members will be Medicare Benefits Schedule (MBS)-eligible allied health professionals.
 - At least one member eligible to provide services under Better Access funding and GP chronic condition management plans (GPCCMP).
 - Continuing members (1 year remaining): pharmacist and social worker.
3. Members have a willingness to provide input to advise and inform Primary Health Tasmania activities targeted at strengthening relationships and advocating for collaboration across the allied health and primary care sector.
4. Members are motivated to identify and provide advice on gaps and barriers evident in person-centred, team-based multidisciplinary healthcare.
5. Members utilise professional networks to assist in dissemination of information to strengthen collaboration across the allied health sector (e.g. events, sector updates).
